1. Transparency of Regulations

1.1 Laws and regulations pertaining to provisions of basic telecom services shall be published.

1.2 Advanced public notice and a fair opportunity will be provided for interested parties to comment on proposed measures affecting the provision of basic telecom services.

1.3 The Regulatory Authority consists of three members, one is a professional telecom engineer and the other two are technical and financial experts appointed by the Government for a term of four years and eligible for appointment for a similar term.

1.4 Any member of the Authority shall not have any direct or indirect financial interest in, or have business connection with any person, any establishment or firm which renders telecom services in Pakistan or abroad. For the above purpose, any involvement of the spouse or blood relation of any member of the Authority with any telecom firm shall be considered as a direct financial interest or connection with such firm.

1.5 The Authority shall ensure that:

(a) Rights of licensees are duly protected

(b) Decisions and determinations are made promptly in open, equitable, non-discriminatory, consistent and transparent manner

(c) The persons affected by its decisions or determinations are given a due notice and provided opportunity of being heard

1.6 A person aggrieved by any decision or order of the Authority can within thirty days of the receipt of order, appeal to the High Court and the Court shall decide such appeal within ninety days.

1.7 A person aggrieved by any decision or order of any officer of the Authority may, within thirty days of the order, appeal to the Authority and the Authority shall decide such appeals within thirty days.

2. Interconnection and Numbering

2.1 In the event that a service supplier is unable to reach agreement with any or dominant service supplier or interconnection, following a reasonable amount of time, either party may refer the dispute to the Regulator in Pakistan.

2.2 Service suppliers shall be required to disclose information concerning technical measures/parameters that will affect use of such facilities for other service suppliers.

2.3 The Regulatory Authority shall exercise all powers to enable it to effectively provide guidelines for and determine the terms of interconnection arrangements between licensees where the parties are unable to agree.

2.4 Authority shall develop/assign non-discriminatory national telecommunication numbering plans.

3. Competition Safeguards and Standards

3.1 When facilities-based service supplier with dominant market position is found engaged in unfair or anti-competitive practices, remedial measures will be available.

3.2 When dominant service supplier provides a competitive service he shall establish separate accounting procedure for the competitive service. Cross subsidy is not permitted.

3.3 The Authority shall notify and publish regulations for establishing national standards for telecom equipment and services. The Authority can specify different standards for different classes of telecom equipment/services and establish procedure for testing.

3.4 The Authority shall not restrict the type of telecom equipment that may be used for the establishment, maintenance or operation of telecom systems or services.

4. Tariff Regime

The level of tariffs for telecom services including basic telephone service shall be regulated by the Authority in accordance with the regulations including following principles:

4.1 The regulations shall apply equally to comparable provider/users of any regulated telecom service

4.2 The criteria used for the establishment of tariff shall regularly be published three months before the criteria is adopted

4.3 Tariffs shall be at a level which provides a reasonable rate of return on investments taking into account the cost of operation

4.4 There shall be no cross-subsidization of other telecom services by basic telephone service.
